Near Galeras some lime may be obtained from calcareous tufa deposited by springs. Remarks Upon The Route Selected. Between the River Cauca and the San Jose Pass the question of gradient is arbitrarily determined by two altitudes. The one, the plain of the Cauca valley, and the other, the head of the cascade in the San Marcos stream, one-and-a-half mile distant from the San Jose Pass. A rise of 1,500 feet has to be effected in a distance of six miles. The choice for the line lies between the north and south sides of the San Marcos valley. The north side of the valley is much more irregular than the south,...
